Pioneer Line of Steamers

FOR

Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York and Boston, via Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal.

THE COMMODIOUS STEAMERS PIONEER and Commodore Adams, will leave Newberne for Norfolk on TUESDAY of each week at 8 o'clock A M, connecting with the different lines of steamers for the above-named points. On and after the first day of December next they will leave on Tuesday and Friday of each week, making semi-weekly trips. Shippers of Goods will receive every facility and accommodation for the transportation of the same, as arrangements have been made with the different companies to forward goods to this line at low rates and without delay. Each of these steamers are capable of carrying through the canal without difficulty, as they were built expressly for the trade. They are fitted up with STATE ROOMS and BERTHS capable of accommodating thirty-five passengers. Every attention will be paid to the comfort of passengers, who will not be subject to the inconvenience of transfer to other vessels, but will be taken through direct without charge.

The tables of the steamers are liberally supplied with the best the market affords. Families traveling will find it to their interest to take this line, as they will thereby escape the danger and discomfort of a sea route, and the fatigue of railroad travel.

On the 15th of December next, if the business of the line warrants it, the steamer Williams will be put on the route, and tri-weekly trips will be made.

For freight or passage apply to Whitford, Dill & Co., Newbern, N C.

It will be seen by a reference to the legislative proceedings, that by a joint resolution the two Houses of the General Assembly have agreed to adjourn on Monday the 18th inst., to meet on the first Monday in Feburary 1866.

Counting the Votes.

The two Houses, by joint resolution, will assemble in the hall of the House of Commons today at 12 o'clock M. to count the votes cast for Governor at the election in November last, and the Governor elect will receive the oaths of office.

Hon. Wm. A. Graham.

The Hon. William A. Graham knew when he consented to run for the State Senate from his county, that he was disqualified from taking his seat in that body Yet he presumed upon his personal popularity with the people and secured the election The result is the people of that county are without representation in the State Senate.

he Hon. William A. Graham knew, when he permitted his name to come before the Legislature as a candidate for United States Senator, that if elected he could not serve. He knew that he was doubly disqualified—first, because of the refusal of the President to pardon him, and secondly, because of his inability, even if pardoned, to take the test oath. Yet, despite of this double disability, he permitted his friends to seek the election for him, and secured it, thus positively preventing the State from becoming represented in the United States Senate.

The Hon. William A. Graham knew that, by permitting himself to be put in conspicuous positions at this particular time, he is contributing to the perpetuation of the power and influence of the Northern radicals. He is therefore playing directly into the hands of the bitterest enemies of the South, and both by his direct acts, and the inferential consequences of his acts, betrays an unfriendly spirit towards his own section.

Thus, politically, the Hon. William A. Graham is a very bad man. He is not a patriotic man. He is more ambitious of his own advancement than of his country's good. Rather than remain personally secluded, resting upon the honors and distinctions that he has won in the past, he permits himself to be thrust forward as a stumbling block and rock of discord to his country.

Who is the Hon. William A. Graham that this State should remain a military province because he may not be one of its political leaders? What has he done so marked for this people that they should be deprived of their civil and political rights for two years yet to come on his account?

The above is taken from the Wilmington Herald. The article exhibits quite as much malice and unfairness, as usually characterises its confreres in this city. Moreover, it entirely misrepresents its section, and does injustice to Gov. Graham, than whom no man enjoys a higher reputation among its patrons, or in the entire State.

The course pursued by President Johnson towards the citizens of all the insurrectionary States, not only justified Gov. Graham but encouraged him to become a candidate for any position the people called him. Confederate Senators and members of the House, some of whom were bitter secessionists and partizan supporters of the Confederacy, had been pardoned by the President both before and after they had been elected to office. The opposition candidate for Governor in Mississippi, a Confederate General, had been pardoned immediately upon his election. Mr. Orr of South Carolina, a Confederate Senator, and one whose political record as a Union man and a friend of peace could not compare with Gov. Graham's, had been pardoned just before his election. The gallant General Hampton when supposed to have been elected Governor in opposition to Mr. Orr, was at once pardoned. A number of unpardoned men were elected to the Georgia Convention. When the President was informed of it, he at once ordered a list of them to be forwarded to him and pardons were made out for them. With all these facts before the country, was it a crime, or an impropriety for Gov. Graham to be a candidate?

What has North Carolina done or her people, or Gov. Graham, more than South Carolina or Mississippi, or Georgia, or any of their people? Is the President's plan of reconstruction one thing for North Carolina and a different one for the other States? Is the rule of pardon or the test of loyalty, one thing for North Carolina and another for the other States? We believe the President does not make these distinctions. Until Gov. Graham's election as U. S. Senator, no friend of his had ever brought his petition for pardon to the notice of the President. Dr. Powell definitely says, that no friend of Gov. Graham had ever requested him to bring the matter before the President.

The people have demanded Gov. Graham's services. It has been contrary to the policy of President Johnson to refuse pardon in any other case of a similar character, so far as we know, in any other State. If Gov Graham is an enemy to the people, an enemy to the State, or an enemy to the Union, it is time the people knew it. If he is an enemy to all these, then we are no friend of his. But we deny it. We challenge a mountain of evidence to prove this. And yet [illegible] of the Wilmington Herald, who have scarcely been in the State long enough to establish a right to vote, assail one of the favorite sons of the State, for being a candidate, without proof, and in the face of the evidence, that any where else and in every other State, President Johnson has pardoned every man similarly situated with Gov. Graham, except him. Its assertions are false, unpatriotic, and it is untrue to the State and the Union, by the denunciation of Gov. Graham.

Congress.

If the spirit evinced by this body on the threshold of the session, is an index of its future action, the anxiety of the Southern people to return to the Union, will have sufficient time to test its character. The negro, who inaugurated the war, and who has engrossed much of the attention of Congress for the last five years, is likely to form the web and the woof of most of its proceedings for the present session. The propositions of Mr. Sumner and Mr. Wilson in the Senate and Mr. Stevens in the House, as already indicated, look to the utter destruction of liberty to the white man in the South, if not the overthrow of all constitutional liberty in the country. When we consider the power of the party of which these men are the leaders, the only hope of the South is in the strong will of the President and the rally of the true conservatives of the North to save it, and the country from utter ruin. Will President Johnson breast the storm which is gathering before him, to restore the country upon the principles he has avowed and hitherto maintained, or will he allow the constitution and the country to be overwhelmed in one common ruin?

Dr. R. J. Powell.

We insert an article to-day at the request of a particular friend of Dr Powell, answering the question, who is he? The Doctor may be a clever man in many respects and may have done some service to our people, but we do not see any special claim he or any one else, who does his duty to his native State, has, upon the special thanks of the Legislature. Legislative thanks by the way are likely to become too cheap—they will soon not be worth a baubee.—Besides some of our people think they have no special reason to thank Dr. Powell for what he has done at Washington or in Raleigh, since he has been here.

The Lunatic Asylum.

This institution has been an ornament and a blessing to the State. It has nothing to do with politics, and it would be a burning shame to make it so. The Board of Directors engineered into that institution yesterday by the sharp-practice of the "straits," is a ridiculous affair, and the object for which we hear it was gotten up, would blast the reputation of the Legislature from Currituck to Cherokee.

Missionary Meeting.

There will be a Missionary meeting at the Methodist Church to-night, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Interesting information from the Missionary to China, will be given, and able addresses will be delivered.

Members of Congress.

We learn that several of our members of Congress, have returned home from Washington City. Mr Clark, Col. Walkup, and perhaps others passed through this City on their return. We learn that they represent affairs at Washington to be of the most gloomy character for the South The recent elections of which so much has been said, we learn, have had no effect whatever upon the Northern mind. The delegates from the South are treated with marked indifference if not contempt. If the entire South had sent delegates who could take the "test oath," and if the entire programme of the President had been warmly endorsed by every man, woman and child in the South, it would have had but little effect upon the action of the radicals of the North. The radicals, if yielded to by the President, will lay him on the shelf, and moreover will remove out of the way every barrier to the success of their schemes. We trust, however, that the President will prove himself to be too strong for them.

Mr. Sumner's Resolutions.

We lay before the reader the programme of the radicals at the North as embodied in the resolutions of Mr. Summer, Senator from Massachusetts, as presented by him to the Senate on the 4th inst.

Resolutions declaratory of the duty of Congress in respect to guarantees of the national security and the national faith in the rebel States:

Resolved, That, in order to provide proper guarantees for security in the future, so that peace and prosperity shall surely prevail, and the plighted faith of the nation shall be preserved, it is the first duty of Congress to take care that no State declared to be in rebellion shall be allowed to resume its relations to the Union until after the satisfactory performance of five several conditions, which conditions precedent must be submitted to a popular vote, and be sanctioned by a majority of the people of each State, respectively, as follows:

The complete re establishment of loyalty, as shown by a honest recognition of the unity of the Republic, and the duty of allegiance to it at all times, without mental reservation or equivocation of any kind.

The complete suppression of all oligarchical pretensions, and the complete enfranchisement of all citizens, so that there shall be no denial of rights on account of color or race; but justice shall be impartial, and all shall be equal before the law.

The rejection of the rebel debt, and at the same time the adoption, in just proportion, of the national debt and the national obligations to Union soldiers, with solemn pledges never to join in any measure, direct or indirect, for their repudiation, or in any way tending to impair the national credit.

The organization of an educational system for the equal benefit of all, without distinction of color or race.

The choice of citizens for office, whether State or national, of constant and undoubted loyalty, whose conduct and conversation shall give assurance of peace and reconciliation.

Resolved, That, in order to provide these essential safeguards, without which the national security and the national faith will be imperilled, States cannot be precipitated back to political power and independence, but they must wait until these conditions are in all respects fulfilled.

REMARKS OF
WILLIAM A. JENKINS OF WARREN,

In the House of Commons on Tuesday morning the 5th of December.

MR. SPEAKER:—By permission of the House I rise to make a personal explanation, before doing so, I will read to the House an article in the North Carolina Standard of this morning, which I design as a basis of the remarks I propose to make:

In the report of the proceedings of the House of Commons yesterday, will be found the assertion by Mr. Jenkins, of Warren, that the pardon of Gov. Graham has never yet reached the eye of the President This is untrue. Mr Jenkins is talking about that which he knows nothing of, and which does not concern him Besides, this assertion is a direct reflection upon Gov. Holden, and proceeds from a secession, copperhead traitor.

We learn that this representative from Warren, officiates as far as he is allowed, as the leader of the Union party in the Commons. We have come to a pretty pass, when no better leader of Union sentiment can be found. He is a sympathizer, a part and parcel of those "plugs" who got up a meeting in Warrenton in 1863, which adopted the following resolutions:

"Resolved, That as citizens deeply interested in the success of the present just and necessary war for the attainment of Southern independence, we feel called upon to denounce in the strongest terms the traitorous course pursued by the Editor of the North Carolina Staadard, as disgraceful to North Carolina and eminently dangerous to the Southern Confederacy We therefore respectfully call upon the Executive of the State to suppress the treason, or remove the traitor beyond the limits of the Confederacy.

Resolved, That if the Executive of the State should incur any censure or responsibility in carrying out the above resolution, we hereby pledge ourselves to sustain the act by every means within our power, as one necessary to the dearest interests and safety of the State.

Resolved, That as a portion of the citizens of the Southern Confederacy, we solemnly pledge ourselves to sacrifice our "last man and our last dollar," sooner than accept any terms short of the absolute and unconditional independence of the Southern Confederacy; and that we will consider any man or body of men, advocating a course adverse to that glorious and necessary consummation, to be hostile to the best interest of the country, and justly liable to all the penalties incurred by convicted traitors."

And yet Mr Jenkins is one of the great leaders in the work of reconstruction! He still slanders and abuses the Provisional Governor as far as he dare! He is one of the advocates of a "liberal" policy. Of course he is Were he treated to justice, even tempered with mercy, he could not bear it.

We are not afraid of such men, nor of their influences in public councils. We can expose them when they stick their heads up, and insinuate unfair conduct on the part of the Provisional Governor. We shall lay the lash on and spare not

I would not ordinarily take any notice of the scurrilous article which I have just read. Knowing full well that the reckless course of that paper for the past few months, has rendered it a byword and a reproach—and that anything emanating from that source will have no influence in North Carolina, where it is known, but I deem it a duty I owe to the members of this House, and the people I represent in part on this floor, to say a few words in reply, in order to correct as far as I can any erroneous impressions which the article is calculated, if not intended, to produce in the minds of the President and the people of the Northern portion of the Union.

In the remarks which I had the honor to submit to the House on yesterday, in urging the election of Senators for the long term, I am reported as having said "that the application of Gov. Graham for pardon had never met the eye of the President." Without complaining at all of the reporter for I can see no material difference, I will now state what I did say. "That if I had been correctly informed the application of Gov. Graham was recommended for suspension, and had never reached the eye or been read by the President." I made that statement upon what I considered the best authority. I so understood Dr. Powell, the agent of the Provisional Governor to say, and many other gentlemen who conversed with the Doctor, understood it as I did. But Mr. Speaker, I am not disposed to do injustice to any one, and as soon as I read the article in the Standard, I called upon Dr. Powell, and he stated to me that whilst the remarks that I made to wit: "That the application itself had not been seen or read by the President" was literally true, yet he went on to say in this conversation, that the President knew the fact that the application was on file, that it had been determined in Cabinet meeting to suspend all applications for pardons in four or five classes of cases, that one of these classes was those who were in the Confederate Congress, and that Gov. Graham's application was thus suspended—and that abstracts of all suspended cases were presented to the President by the Clerks in the Attorney General's office, and in this way the President knew it was there, and the Doctor also stated that he had himself mentioned the subject to the President." This, I believe is the substance of the conversation, and I think nearly his words, according to my recollection. If I am incorrect in any particular I hope the Doctor will have me corrected, as I do not design to do injustice to any one in this matter. Now Mr. Speaker, I should like for some one to point out any material difference between the statement made by me on yesterday, and Dr. Powell's statement to-day. Has the President ever seen or read the application? who says so, not Dr. Powell the agent of the State, on the contrary in his opinion he has not, "for says the Doctor, the President reads none of them." I did not state on yesterday that the President never knew that Gov. Graham had an application on file, on the contrary, I urged upon the House that the triumphant election of Gov. Graham to that distinguished position, together with the petition which had been signed by nearly every member of the General Assembly would have a strong tendency to direct the attention of the President to the application, and cause him to raise it from suspension and act upon it favorably. I believed that such would be the case because of the acknowledged magnanimity and liberality of the President towards the people of the South and forsooth because I entertain these opinions and dare express them upon this floor. The North Carolina Standard declares that my remarks were a reflection upon the Provisional Governor, and that I abused him as far as I dare. Beautiful language this, to be used by a newspaper scribbler—it frightens no one.

But Mr. Speaker, how and in what way did I abuse the Provisional Governor of North Carolina? Did I mention even his name in any connection? No, how then? Did it touch the sensibilities of the Standard because it differed with me as to the propriety of asking at the hands of the President this boon for the people of North Carolina? Was it because I desired to see that patriot and statesman set free, in order that the people of the State might have the benefit of his great talents, ability and moral worth, in reconstructing the government, and in restoring peace and harmony to our distracted country? Or was it in daring to vote for him for Senator, notwithstanding the opposition of the Standard? If this constitutes censure or abuse, or is any obstacle in the way of reconstruction I cannot see it—but if it is, why has the Standard singled me out? Why not last others? Nearly every member of the General Assembly with singular unanimity have not only signed an earnest appeal to the President in behalf of this distinguished gentleman, but have gone still farther in electing him to the high and responsible position of Senator in Congress by an almost unanimous vote—does this constitute censure or abuse? The Standard I suppose thinks it does; if so, then I am no more guilty than nearly every member of both Houses. Has it come to this that no one is allowed to differ with the Standard even upon a question of policy without being abused, slandered and villified by that sheet? Do we belong to it? If so, the sooner it be made known the better. It may deter some from the performance of duty, but whilst I hold a seat upon this floor, I intend to exercise my own judgment as to what is best to be done in promoting the interest and prosperity of the State, regardless of all threats, come from what source they may.

Why Mr. Speaker, has the North Carolina Standard gone out of its way to denounce me as "a secession, copperhead traitor." Have I by my act, vote or speech thrown any obstacles in the way of reconstruction? if so, why does not the Standard act in a manly way, and point it out? On the contrary it abuses me because it says I am trying to act with the Union party—Certainly this should be no cause of offence, if it is sincere in its professions of loyalty, however great a sinner it may regard me, it certainly does not act on the scriptural rule, "while the lamp holds out to burn, the vilest sinner may return." I would advise that sheet to keep cool, "cease viper, you bite a file." It is true it says I "meddled in the matter of Gov. Graham's pardon, that I had nothing to do with it, and it did not concern me." In this opinion, I beg leave to differ, if I am allowed. I humbly conceive that I had a right, and it was my duty as representative upon this floor to do all in my power towards securing to the country the services of that distinguished statesman, who to day commands the confidence and respect of the people of this State to a greater extent perhaps than any other man, by reason of his known loyalty, consistency, purity of character and great ability, and in this opinion I am gratified to know, that I am sustained by the almost unanimous voice of this General Assembly. But the Standard thinks that in doing anything towards obtaining the pardon we are "meddlers." The Standard newspaper one would suppose had always been consistent for the Union—after calling me ugly names and being unable to prove what it says by act or word of mine since the surrender, it publishes with a flourish of trumpets, the resolutions which I have just read which were adopted in a public meeting in Warren sometime in 1863, and includes in his denunciation the people of that noble county. It calls them "Plugs," and says they were in favor of hanging Union men, pretty language for a paper to use professing decency. I do not precisely know what application it designs to make by calling the people of Warren "plugs" not being in the habit of associating with those who use such terms, but I can tell the editors of that paper, that its denunciation will fall entirely harmless and be regarded as a compliment considering the source from which it emanates. But Mr. Speaker, why were these resolutions published? Did that paper suppose that it was furthering the cause of reconstruction, and promoting the best interest of the country? Or was it actuated by a blind, partisan malice, which it sought to gratify at all hazards. I leave this for the honest thinking people of the State to assume. If that paper merely intended for partisan purposes to show that the people of Warren county as well as myself, were secessionists during the war and true to the Confederacy, no one had ever denied that, it was an admitted fact; but Mr. Speaker if it intended to go further and assert or intimate that the people of Warren or myself are now secessionists and disloyal to the government of the United States, the charge is utterly and entirely false—we are as true and loyal as any people in the State, and anxious to do all that we can to restore the State as speedily as possible to its proper place in the Union.

But, Mr. Speaker, what does all this amount to? Is it true that no one who has ever advocated secession, can be loyal and true now? I should hardly think that the Standard would lay down any such rule. No one questions its loyalty, notwithstanding its advocacy of secession, both before and during the war. I do not certainly. Then why should it doubt the sincerity of others? Some body else may tell the truth besides the Standard. Other persons may change their views. Did not the Standard advocate the passage of the secession ordinance? Did it not say after its passage, "that it was the most glorious act which North Carolina had done since May, 1775," and that it would make it good with the "last man and the last dollar"? Did it not declare that there were traitors (meaning Union men,) in Virginia, in Tennessee, and in Kentucky, but that it hoped there were none in North Carolina—if there were any who loved the old Union better than they did the Confederacy, they should immediately go North, or the hand of vengeance would reach them? Did it not declare that Andrew Johnson, now President of the United States, was a traitor to his country and ought to be hung; that he had been bribed with a thousand dollars to betray his country; that he was the most elegant devil out of hell, and that he was endeavoring to make his escape out of Tennessee in a close carriage? Did it not more recently charge that Jonathan Worth, the Governor elect, and Wm. Eaton, Jr, of Warren, two life-long Union men, were secessionists? Did that paper believe what it said about those two gentlemen, or did it expect any one else to believe it? If it were lost to all sense of shame, it would blush at such reckless assertions; but it hesitates not to say any thing for partizan purposes.

Are these things so? Does one dare deny them. I might go on and repeat elegant extracts of a like tenor, but these will suffice. I know the Standard has changed its views since, but it ought to remember that "persons who live in glass houses ought not to throw stones," and teach it a better charity. Now the Standard says I ought to be hung because I was a secessionist. It also thought that Andrew Johnson ought to be hung because he was for the Union. It certainly was not in earnest then or now, in regard to hanging, or it has changed. I am glad, however, that President Johnson in his magnanimity, differs with the Standard in regard to hanging me, and I think he extended as much mercy when he pardoned the Standard as in my case.

Mr. Speaker, during this session I have endeavored to do everything in my power to promote harmony. I have studiously avoided saying anything to wound the feelings of the most sensitive. I have co-operated heartily with those who have endeavored to remove from the mind of the President and of the people North, false impressions as to the loyalty of our people.

I believe that all the people of North Carolina are loyal and true, and he who endeavors to produce a contrary opinion at the North, is no friend to his State. I ask pardon of the House for detaining them so long, and I will conclude by saying that this article contains an uncalled for attack on me, and I look upon it, as well as its author, whoever he may be, with utter contempt.

Dr. R. J. Powell.

MR. EDITOR:—I have frequently heard the question asked, who is Dr. R. J. Powell? and as some appear curious to know, will you permit the writer of this to answer? Dr. Powell was born and raised in Richmond county in this State near the Pee Dee River. His father, Robert Powell Esq, was a gentleman of high respectability, of irreproachable character, and frequently represented his county in the Legislative councils of the State, and lived and died in the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. The Doctor being an active-minded, and enterprising young man, without the advantages of much education, with the assistance of some friends, obtained a clerkship in some one of the departments of the Government at Washington city, (some 25 years ago,) where he has been ever since, doing business in some one of the Bureaus of the Government, and where, by his industry, honesty, and close application to business, he has made himself the refined gentleman, the accomplished scholar and business man that he now is. The Doctor is now connected with the Treasury Department of the United States at Washington. He is in the confidence of, and a personal friend of President Johnson.

During the war the Doctor was actively engaged in behalf of prisoners from North Carolina, procuring their release and relieving them of their sufferings—much of which he did out of his own limited means. Since the war closed he has exhibited himself the friend to all North Carolinians, urging their pardons, and representing the interests of any and all who made known their wants to him. The Doctor has the interest and prosperity of North Carolina deeply at heart. It his native State, the land of his birth, the home of his youth, his relations are here, and embosomed in the soil of North Carolina is the dust of his parents. He is now here anxiously engaged in witnessing the efforts of the people in restoring his mother State, to her once high and proud position along side with her sister States in the Union again.

This is considered due to him by one who has known him from his youth up. C.

Scale of Confederate Money.

We are glad that the Legislature has determined upon a Committee from each House, which shall take into consideration the scale of Confederate money, during the war.

When the Convention passed its act relative to the matter—that is to say, making legal payment the payment merely of gold required by the value it bore at a given time, the common opinion seemed to be that as the debts coming under that head, would be estimated by the standard of gold now, and if not thus, at least by its standard at principel localities of Banking, as Richmond, Raleigh, Wilmington and so on, during the war, the payment in full of any such debt, would fall short to the extent of the difference of gold value then, and when the debt should be actually paid In other words that there would be a loss to the creditor of twenty five per cent., more or less, by regulating the value according to the Banker's tables made from time to time, as the war continued.

It is plain, that the gold value of 1862 for instance, is not the gold value of 1865. Even were the standard of estimate to result in the same nominal amount, for the gold payment in 1862, if then made and realized, would have been of more value to the creditor by 25 per cent, we will say, than if paid now; since more could have been bought with it then than subsequent to the rebellion It is the same thing as basing payment on values then, and not paying until gold cheapens, and thus diminishing the debt to that unfair extent.

Therefore, we repeat, we are glad a committee has this important subject in hand, for we had feared the Convention had hermetically sealed the equity against the creditor by its legislation, it being inferred that the Broker's rates during the war, would be decisive

Now the matter is open, we trust the committee will give it due consideration, and in its justice and wisdom, see that in fixing rates for these various war liabilities made during the war, the tables really secure equity to the creditor, and not overstep and diminish his claim so largely as at first apprehended.

We are sick and tired of such hollow hypocrisy—Daily Standard of the 5th inst

Glad to hear it. Hope you'll quit it. But

"Why did you choose that cursed sin, Hypocrisy, to set up in?"
What is that you say? you thought it
"——The thrivingest calling.
The only saint's bell that rings all in."

But you see you were mistaken. It has not rung all in. A good many saw the ears of the wolf sticking out from under the skin of the sheep, and refused to come in. But, as the thing has made you sick, hope you'll leave it off at once. WIRE GRASS.

The only thing lacking that we now see for success is nerve.—Daily Standard of the 5th instant.

If nerve is the only thing lacking, you need not despair. A paper that advocated secession for ten years before the State attempted to go out of the Union—that exhorted the Confederate authorities to call out every man who did not volunteer for the war and drill him until his legs grew limber—that declared Andrew Johnson was a traitor and ought to be hung—that exhorted our people to fight the Yankees from the Mountains to the seaboard, and to fight them all the time—and which paper now denounces as traitors and copperheads all who took its advice, does not lack nerve—nor impudence neither. WIRE GRASS.

The Currency.

It is well known, from the public declarations of Mr. McCulloch and of Mr. Freeman Clarke, Comptroller of the Currency, that they consider the currency as redundant, and apprehend, from its continuance or increase, a revulsion which will cause wide spread disaster throughout the land. But it is equally certain that, at present, no essential reduction of currency can be suddenly made without a serious disturbance of all money-ed interests. Money has become comparatively scarce, and the rate of interest has risen. In the South money is worth from ten to fifteen per cent a year, on the best security, personal and real.—Money can hardly be obtained, except on call, in the Northern cities, and then at seven or eight per cent. Loans on time range from ten to twelve per cent., and are difficult of negotiation. The banks are cramped for want of bank notes, even to pay depositors' checks In Boston banks such is the scarcity of bank bills that they certify checks which pass as currency. All these are the usual signs of an inflated currency, and are significant premonitions. An immediate and large contraction would expedite a crisis and a crash; an expansion would afford temporary relief, but would soon aggravate the disorder and render it incurable.

What course the Secretary of the Treasury will propose is not made public, but according to rumors it will not be one that will very much alarm speculators, nor produce any commotion in Wall street. The national currency may be increased in amount to an extent that may be necessary to supply circulation in the Southern States, through national banks to be established there. As to the floating debt of the Government, including legal-tenders bearing interest, it may be proposed to offer a six per cent. loan, unlimited as to time and amount, for the gradual present condition of the money market a large loan would not be taken at six per cent. Such a loan can only be practicable when the supply of currency is in excess of the demands of speculation. But when speculation shall have run its natural course and produced its inevitable results and confidence in Government securities shall have been strengthened by economical expenditures, the loan may be effected.—National Intelligencer.

State Loyalty.

It must be a matter of sincere regret to the people of North Carolina, to see themselves represented abroad in a false light. The following is from a Cincinnatti paper:

"The conduct of North Carolina, as exhibited in her election returns has produced general disappointment. North Carolina was supposed to be the most firm supporter of the Union cause among all the rebellious States. The defeat, however, of Governor Holden, a man of ability, and, it was thought, of great popularity in the State, proves quite the opposite, and that the views of that State have been greatly misunderstood.

"The Raleigh Standard declares the rebels of North Carolina would crush the Union men into the ground to-day, had they the power. They would murder, burn and hang as before. The old leaven is still in their hearts. They are yet traitors.' Or as the Progress says: 'Leniency toward leading traitors has, instead of humbling and improving them, only emboldened them to have treason recognized as a virtue."

Now we desire to state simply that we have not lost all confidence in the honesty of our people.—We gave to Gov. Holden in the late canvass all the support we could. We believed it to be the duty of the people throughout the entire State to support him, because it would have shown our enemies abroad that we appreciated the magnanimity of the National Executive, and were willing to honor the agent whom he had appointed. But the majority of the people of North Carolina, who were as loyal as ourself, construed the language of President Johnson to mean that they should have a free choice. They exercisee the privilege granted them, and chose a man whom they supposed to be superior to the Provisional Governor in genuine loyalty to the Union. We deprecated any such action, knowing it would be construed to our prejudice. We wanted to show to those who had acquired authority over us that we were willing to abide by the terms prescribed for our future equality.

But it is a lamentable fact, and one which challenges the sincerest sorrow of our truly loyal people, that we have amongst us journals of influence which follow a course more creditable to the code of the partizan than the sentiments of truth. Is it right to sacrifice upon the altar of party the principles of morality? Is it creditable to charge people with disloyalty because they have chosen to exercise the privilege of a free ballot, and select for office the men whom they thought the best qualified? As a supporter of the Provisional Governor, we dare to raise our voice and say—NO! Gov. Holden himself, though defeated for the office of civil Governor, would scorn complicity in such a course.

Would to heaven we could say as much for some of the journals which supported his claims with us. Two of them have studiously strived to poison the mind against the people of their own State, and the record shows no reason for their conduct, save the fact that they have been unfortunate enough to advocate the claims of the defeated candidate.

We protest against the wholesale denouncement of the whipped people of our State. We protest in the name of a suffering people against the sweeping charge that the citizens of North Carolina have perjured themselves in taking the oath of allegiance to the United States of America. We protest against the promulgation of an idea that the leniency of the government towards those who unfortunately took up arms against the Union, has resulted to the injury of the Union. If this were true, nine-tenths of the people of North Carolina have wilfully sworn to an infamous lie, when they swore allegiance to the national authority.

We speak plainly upon this subject, because we feel deeply. We are anxious that our people should receive the benefit of their loyal protestations, for, God knows they need it. We have been conquered by a foe whose power we braved, and we have succumed. The terms have been accepted in good faith, and adhered to religiously. It is enough, therefore, to make one loose confidence in the honesty of his kind, when he contemplates the depth of infamy into which partizan journals can be plunged; when that infamy leads them to traduce a crushed, but penitent and honest people.

It is a sickening sight to witness the efforts of disappointed demagogues directed to the overthrow of a people, because they, in the exercise of a privilege granted them, dared to do what they thought best for the national good.

We copy the above from the Newbern Times.—We are glad to see a determination on the part of the Times to rebuke the defamatory spirit of the papers with which it has acted heretofore.

MARRIED,

DIED,

In Beaufort, N. C., on Tuesday, the 26th of November, 1865, MR JAS LONGEST, in the 62nd year of his age. The deceased was a very respectable and worthy citizen and was favourably known to a large circle of persons in the eastern part of North Carolina for his usefulness and the excellent qualities of his heart. He was a firm and steadfast friend and particularly kind and affectionate towards his numerous relations. His death will be widely lamented; but he died the death of a Christian, manifesting in the last days of his illness an unshaken faith in the Saviour of the world and a calm and perfect resignation to the will of the Divine Being, which was gratifying to his friends, and only two hours before his death he exclaimed to the writer that he would soon get home, and finally passed through the last struggle with a most triumphant spirit.

A FRIEND.

In this county, on the 12th inst., in the 7th year of his age, EUGENE MORRISON, and on the 15th ult., in the 4th year of her age, ADDIE LOUISA, children of Rev. W. M., and Mrs. Ann E. Jordan.

"Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

IMPORTANT COMMUNICATION,

For the Times, and all Times, to be Considered.

The first stone in the structure of life insurance was laid by the hand of the Almighty when he planted in the human heart the generous impulses of love and affection, which prompt us to provide for our own; but the keystone is this law of average to secure which we bind ourselves together, to bear each other's burdens, the stronger and richer, as the longer lives must be, helping the weaker and poorer brother that is cut down in early life, and by the universal law of compensation it gives us either the blessings of a long life, or the pleasing assurance of leaving a competency to our loved ones, as the films of death are curtaining them from our sight forever.

Times like the present make most manifest the peculiar benefit of life insurance. Business is interrupted. Men are anxious for the future. Thousands have families growing up around them whose property depends upon the continuance of the father's life. Should he die, the income would cease; the children must be withdrawn from school; the mother and elder children must resort to every expedient to sustain the family; and, in many cases, with the utmost exertion, this can not be done; the wife will return to her father for support, and the children, separated, must go, the older to seek work, and the younger be distributed among friends. Such reverses befall men the least expecting them. While business is active, and prosperity gives exhiliration and hope, men can hardly be made to feel that they are within a hand's breadth of utter reverse, and that their families may be scattered in a month, by the death of the father. But hard times lead men to think of these things.

Now if a man has insured a sum of one, five or ten thousand dollars upon his life, this anxiety is removed. While he lives, he can support his family. If he dies, ample provision is made for them.

It is every man's duty to provide for his family. That provision must include its future contingent condition. That provision, so far as it is material, men ordinarily seek to secure by their own accumulations and investments. But all these are uncertain. The man rich to-day, is, from causes beyond his reach, poor to-morrow. A war in China, a revolution in Europe, a rebellion in America, overmle ten thousand fortunes in every commercial community. But, in life insurance there are no risks or contingencies. Other investments may fail. A house may burn down. Banks may break. Bonds and mortgages may be seized for debt, and all property may fall into the bottomless gulf of bankruptcy. But money secured to your family by life insurance, will go to them without fail or interruption, provided you have selected a sound and honorable insurance company. Of two courses, one of which may leave your family destitute, and the other of which assures them a comfortable support at your decease, can there be a doubt which is to be chosen?"

The benefits of life insurance are not confined to a provision for families, but are as numerous as the various circumstances of individuals. It enables a person to make a provision for a wife, a parent, a child, a friend or domestic, depending on him, and he lives secure, that while his industry is providing for their support, his savings are effectually guarding them against want in the event of his death, thus doing his whole duty toward them instead of only one half of it.

It enables a person to raise money on loans where real security can not be offered, to provide for the prompt payment of his debts in the case of his death, and to secure the eventual payment of doubtful debts.

By it a charitable individual may donate a legacy to some beneficent institution; or a congregation a support to their minister's family in case of his death.

It provides means to reimburse the sum expended in the purchase of any life estate, on the death of the person during whose life it is held; to remove incumbrances, payable on events connected with the termination of life; and secures the return of money paid for education, for capital embarked in business, or other advances made for children or others, in the event of their premature death; and, generally, it affords a certain indemnity against any pecuniary loss whatsoever, to which one individual may become subject, by reason of the death of another.

It is a subject, then, which concerns the poor as well as the rich, the man living on his income, the mechanic, the farmer, the professional man, the merchant—in short all classes of the community.

Surely, such an institution deserves the countenance, the consideration and support of all reflecting men, and is doubly recommended, when it is considered how very small a sacrifice of some personal gratification, will secure, by its means, the independence and happiness of a family.

PATENTEES AND MANUFACTURERS OF THE BEST FIRE PROOF SAFE IN THE WORLD!!

JEWELERS' and BANKERS' SAFES made to Order, Lined with Hardened Steel.

HOUSE AND PLATE SAFES.

TO THIS CELEBRATED SAFE was awarded the GOLD MEDAL, at the World's Fair in London, in 1851.

NOTICE.—This celebrated Fire Proof safe is no longer made and sold by SILAS C. HERRING, his license to make and sell them having expired.

The thousands of Certificates from Merchants, Bankers and Mechanics of all trades, that have been given in favor of this the only true "SALAMANDER" renders it useless for the subscribers to multiply words in its favor, as full thirty thousand of "WILDER'S PATENT SALAMANDER SAFES," have been manufactured and sold in the United States; and, in almost every large fire that has taken place during the last seventeen years, these Safes have been subjected to the severest tests, and not one of the "Genuine Salamanders" has ever been destroyed.

Safes sold at New York price, with the freight to Wilmington added. No commission charged in Wilmington. We are prepared to take orders for these celebrated Safes. Samples can be seen at our office in a few days.

Every Merchant should have one of these cheap and secure Safes.

NEW GOODS!

New Line Opened! Makes Room for Fresh Lots! Look Out!

A. CREECH HAS JUST RETURNED from the North, where he has bought his entire supply of

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

Embracing the various New Styles of the Season, together with Ladies' Cloaks, Long Shawls, Ladies and Misses' Goods, Ladies and Misses' Hoop Skirts, Ladies and Misses' Balmoral Boots and Shoes, Boys, Youths and Children's Boots and Shoes. Felt Hats, the Derby the Dandy, the Planter's wide brim, and other styles for Men's wear. Boys, Youths and Children's Hats. Wood and Willow Ware, Crockery and Glass Ware, and a superior lot of Family Groceries.

Take my stock altogether, I have one among the largest and most desirable and complete Stocks of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods in the City.

Now, allow me to say that I bought my Goods to sell, and they must and shall be sold; but I don't expect to take a piece of poetry in one hand and a full grown humbug in the other and climb up to the clouds and fish out the birds of Paradise and then bring them down with a placard stuck on the tail "Selling out at Cost! selling out at cost!" No, I deal in no such humbug. I keep no such a class of Goods. I keep no time-worn, shelf-rubbed, dusty or dusty Goods—dust so thick you can rub it off with a knife. My Goods are all new, and of the styles, and I intend to sell them as low as any goods that bought goods with the expectation of paying for them, and the man that sold the goods to the man that don't intend to pay for them, is a fool—and the man that sells them is a rascal. Now this is plain talk, but 'tis no slip of the tongue. I mean what I say, and say what I mean. I have lived here and sold goods here for twenty years. I expect to remain here, pay my taxes to support Institutions of the City, County and the State. I expect to continue to do so. I respectfully ask my old customers, my old friends and new ones to call and examine my stock. I will deal with you honest, and treat you right. If I don't sell you goods as cheap as you can buy the same class of goods elsewhere I don't expect you to buy. Call at the E. Smith building, house formerly occupied by Creech & Litchford, Merchants and Auctioneers.

A. CREECH.

Raleigh, Nov. 29-96-tf.

ADDRESS THE INVENTOR.

B. FRANK. PALMER, LL.D. PRES'T. A. A. LIMB, C'S.

These inventions stand approved as the "best" by the most eminent Scientific and Surgical Societies of the world, the inventor having been honored with the award of FIFTY GOLD AND SILVER MEDALS (or "First Prizes") including the Great Medals of the World's Exhibition in London and New York; also the most Honorary Report of the great Society of Surgeons of Paris, giving his Patents place above the ENGLISH AND FRENCH.

Dr. Palmer gives personal attention to the business of his profession, aided by men of the best qualifications and greatest experience. He is specially commissioned by the Government, and has the patronage of the prominent Officers of the Army and Navy. He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say any thing of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only, but for the last 25 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. Call at store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.
